

$A \in [0, 5]$ (Maximum peak to peak amplitude should be 10 V, except for the square pulse, where it should be 5 V)

All the signals except the square pulse should be symmetric around 0V axis.

Assume that the power supply is a 12V AC source. You may need to implement suitable power regulation circuitry.